

For coupling or special tooling applications, can be used as a component.